

Forum Confidentiality Agreement

Pinnacle Forum

Confidentiality is the heart of a Forum. It must be total and absolute. By attending this Forum, you are agreeing to the following:

- Confidentiality covers every topic and every comment that is shared.
- If not declared otherwise, assume that everything said in the Forum is Level 1 confidential. Make no assumptions otherwise.
 - Level 1 – always in operation. To talk about something outside of the Forum, ask the “holder” of the information if it is okay
 - Level 2 – declared by a member who does not wish for the issue to be discussed outside his/her presence
 - Level 3 – declared by a member who wishes to share something once, but does not want it to be referred to ever again except by that member. This is usually for some issue which is difficult to talk about, but an important part of the member’s story.
- Confidentiality is forever. Even after a member leaves the Forum, they are still bound to this important Forum standard.
- Members who testify under subpoena should comply with the law.

I hereby agree to the above stated norms surrounding confidentiality for this Forum.

Forum that you are participating in: _____

Forum Facilitator’s First and Last Name: _____

Please print clearly your First and Last Name: _____

Signed: _____

Dated: _____

