

Chris Rollins - BIO

Chris is the Founder and President of Rollins Performance Group, where he uses his experience as a Master Trainer on human emotion and communication as well as his proprietary 3C Model of Performance to help companies achieve massive organizational growth. His focus is on developing the foundational principles of effective communication, leadership, and sales skills.

He is an international trainer and speaker who ignites and inspires his audiences to embrace the possibilities available to them by encouraging them to challenge 'in the box' ideas and concepts in order to achieve 'out of the box' results.