

Doug Hamm - BIO

Doug has owned three companies, innovated and patented a technology, been a senior leader in a Fortune 50 company, a leadership/strategy consultant and has served on various Board of Director's. He has also been the U.S. Headquarters leader of International Bible Society (now Biblica, the ministry that translated the NIV). God has taken him across the world advancing the Kingdom with the Word of God, regardless of role.

The Bible is where Doug met and has come to know Jesus Christ and the ongoing transforming power it provides. Today, helping others engage with God to discover truth so they too can experience that transforming power is his heart's desire and lifelong mission.

To that end, Doug, his wife and a handful of simple fishermen were led to build the GODcha Bible Guide; a practical tool, unbiased and culturally relevant for all generations. It is designed for anyone willing to lose the noise of the world and invest in listening to their Creator directly. Providing a resource guide that simply helps others engage with God to hear from Him to transform lives and the world around them is an incredible blessing and the motivator for Doug's life.

Doug lives in Colorado with his wife, has one daughter, loves the outdoors and is an avid hunter.
