

Jeff Ahern – BIO

Jeff Ahern is the author of Kingdom Business Success and co-founder of Sozo Services, Inc., an executive coaching firm that helps business leaders succeed and achieve their personal and corporate vision and goals by using Biblical, Spirit-led solutions. Jeff and his team come alongside Christian CEOs and business leaders and serve in a role that can best be described as a combination of business intercessor, prophetic voice, and business advisor. The company helps business owners to fulfill their God-given vision and assignment as marketplace ministry leaders through services that include intercessory prayer, strategic planning, mentoring, and business networking.

A born-again, Spirit-filled Christian, Jeff has been walking with the Lord since 1985 and has been involved in providing management consulting and professional services to Fortune 500 and Government clients for over twenty years. He has a B.S. in Electronics Engineering and has served in the computer security, telecommunications, software development, and financial industries. As a former U.S. Naval Officer, he served on two destroyers and has been involved as an owner and leader of several technology services businesses. Jeff has also served as both a Trustee and Board member for several non-profit and for-profit organizations.
