

JENEEN HAMMOND - BIO

Inspiring people to do what they dream of, Jeneen Hammond is an Actress/Storyteller, Director and Playwright who captivates audiences through the Art of Storytelling. A native of New Orleans, Louisiana, Jeneen translates her journey and human experiences into Gospel truths that ignite dreams, heal hearts and transform communities. Featured on internationally-recognized stages, some of her credits include: Ragtime, Children of Eden, Little Shop of Horrors, 1940's Radio Hour, Halie, the portrayal of Gospel Legend Mahalia Jackson, Rocks That Cry Out, Get in the Habit Musical, For God So Loved, Journey and her signature touring role as, "The Bag Lady." For the past 30 years, Jeneen has served her community and is a well-respected performing artist for her creative works and leadership for as a Production Consultant, Director and Host. Jeneen is passionate about serving the "remnant" Creative in their need for community and platforms to express their convictions, values and life "glory" stories. As a Strategic visionary, Jeneen empowers individuals to embrace their significance and develop entrepreneurial strategies that help them launch, scale and sustain their dream ventures for the Kingdom to the fullest.

Jeneen resides outside Atlanta, GA with her loving husband of 34+ years, two beautiful daughters and one handsome grandson.

Jeneen Hammond is also the Founder of Clay Creative Academy, a non-profit mobile educational academy dedicated to building bridges that better educate and champion the whole well-being and future of our children in Academics, Arts & Entertainment and Family Life through targeted resources, creative events and strategic mentorship.