

Brian Searcy - BIO

Brian Searcy is a retired United States Air Force Colonel and the founder and CEO of 'The Paratus Group', where he uses his decades-tested and decorated senior leadership and military training experiences to solve the need for relevant and effective principles in situational awareness and leadership.

A #1 Selling Best Author with his book "Prepare for the Real World – The World is Not a Safe Place", he provides training methodologies and programs for the learning of situational awareness.

Brian's vision is to "Redefine How Safety is Learned" to help make schools, churches, the workplace, and our communities as safe as possible.

His revolutionary training programs empowers the learning of situational awareness so that we all can be the true 'first responders'. When you learn this critical skill, parents, our kids and families, the members of your church and business are "prepared to survive."