Carl Dobrowolski is a passionate and tenured Christian publishing professional with over 30 years publishing experience. As the head of Goodwill Rights Management, Goodwill Audio as well as Goodwill Media Services Corp, he has successfully served over 100 organizations the world over since 2003. He is also currently helping to transform the world of self-publishing by introducing Direct-to-Market Publishing Services, a new publishing model meant to meet the emerging contours of a changing publishing industry. Under his direction, GMSC empowers and unleashes the potential of content creators and bypasses typical market obstacles to enable authors, ministries and other content creators to become their own publishing enterprises to maximize the fruit of their labor and achieve their higher calling. He is also a devoted husband, father of 4, soon-to-be grandfather, self-taught theologian, guitarist and an incurable fan of his beloved NY Mets.
