

Brent Riffel – Bio 2022

Brent Riffel was a former Financial Services Rep at New York Life/Principal Financial Group from February 2003 to September 2006 when he became Pastor of Discipleship Connections at Clovis Hills Community Church until June 2008.

In June 2008, he began assisting his community partners as an Estate and Gift Planning Adviser, working with Trusts, Wills and Planned Giving resources as Director of Gift Planning at Fresno Mission.

In November 2012 to June 2022, Brent became the Director for Convoy of Hope, covering the western states and making a difference in his own community in Fresno by assisting individuals, families, and businesses with giving from the simple to highly strategic planning, helping make a greater impact in the world and in local communities. Brent has built a high-level team that has helped give millions to the organizations that people are passionate about.

In February 2016, Brent also became a Generosity Advisor to Families and Nonprofit Consultant at Olive Tree Firm LLC and in July of 2022, he became President and CEO at Ten Talents Foundation, 'Mobilizing a Movement of Generosity for Greater Impact'.

“Generous families and individuals love to see their generosity stewarded effectively and efficiently. With tax-wise giving and resources through Ten Talents Foundation, and the extensive relationships with our regional and global ministries, we help families steward their wealth, leverage their generosity, and give with greater impact. Start a Giving Account with us and experience a powerful new way of giving.”

Brent studied at Multnomah Bible College and at Multnomah University.
